 - Identification of and notice to relatives
 - Access to Federal Parent Locator Service
 - Sibling placement requirement
 - Option for case-by case exceptions for relatives for non-safety licensing standards
 - Transition plan requirement

- Educational stability and attendance requirements
- Health Oversight and Coordination Plan requirement
- Adoption Incentive Program expansion
- Adoption Tax Credit information to families adopting children from foster care
- Short-term training under Title IV-E for relative guardians, agency and court staff, and attorneys, court appointed special advocates and guardians ad litem begins to phase in at a reimbursement rate of 55%.
- HHS technical assistance to Indian tribes and states about the tribal changes in the law
- Implementation grants for Indian tribes that are preparing a Title IV-E plan for approval in order to access Title IV-B and IV-E funds directly

October 23, 2008

- Program Instruction ACYF-CB-PI-08-05 released, which describes the new law and requires states to submit certifications to the regional Children’s Bureau offices within 30 days stating whether or not they will require state legislation to implement provisions of the law.

October 24, 2008

- Information Memorandum ACYF-CB-IM-08-03 released, which notifies Indian Tribes of the opportunity to directly operate title IV-E programs for foster care maintenance payments, adoption assistance and kinship guardianship assistance and apply for grants to develop title IV-E plans and provides a brief overview of the law and the options available to Indian Tribes.

November 24, 2008

- Certifications due from all states to their regional Children’s Bureau offices regarding whether or not they require state legislation to implement the provisions of the law.

December 24, 2008

- Program Instruction ACYF-CB-PI-08-007 released, which provides information to state and tribal child welfare agencies on how to implement and operate the Guardianship Assistance Program plan option and includes a sample Title IV-E plan amendment.

January 1, 2009

- In the quarter that begins on this date, States deciding to take the kinship guardianship assistance option may obtain approval from HHS of their Title IV-E state plan amendments, and, once approved, begin to submit claims for reimbursement of eligible children back to the first day of the quarter in which approval was granted. (States also may opt in at a later time.)

October 1, 2009

- Indian tribes, tribal organizations and tribal consortia with an approved Title IV-E plan may begin directly claiming federal funds for foster care, adoption assistance or kinship guardianship assistance payments, or related costs, or may decide to do so in the future.

October 1, 2017

- The elimination of income and resource requirements for the federal adoption assistance program is now fully phased in for children of all ages, children in care for 60 consecutive months, and siblings of such children.

APPENDIX II: GLOSSARY *

Adoption Incentives Program – Provides fiscal incentives to states to increase annually, over an established baseline, the number of children adopted from foster care with special attention to older children and other children with special needs.

Adoption and Safe Families Act (ASFA), (P.L. 105-89) – Enacted in 1997 to enhance safety, permanence and well-being for children at risk of entering or in the child welfare system. Required that a child’s safety be the paramount consideration in any decision a state makes regarding a child in the system. Established expedited timelines for moving children into permanent homes, either by safely returning them home or by terminating parental rights and moving children into adoptive or other permanent placements, including guardianship or placement with a fit and willing relative. Reauthorized the Family Preservation and Support Services Program to expand its focus on adoption, and changed its name to the Promoting Safe and Stable Families Program.

Congressional Budget Office (CBO) – Nonpartisan organization required by Congress to prepare annual budgets and economic outlooks for the country, estimates of the fiscal impact of the President’s proposed budget, and estimates of legislative proposals introduced in Congress.

Educational and Training Vouchers (ETV) Program – Provides resources through the states for vouchers for postsecondary training and education to assist youth otherwise eligible for services under the state’s John H. Chafee Foster Care Independence Program (see definition below) including those who were adopted or entered kinship guardianship from foster care after attaining age 16. The vouchers, which are included as a sixth purpose in the John H. Chafee Foster Care Independence Program, make up to $5,000 per year per youth available for secondary education and training to eligible youth.

Federal Fiscal Year (FY) – The accounting period of the federal government is the federal fiscal year. It begins on October 1st of each year and runs through September 30th of the next year. Each fiscal year is identified by the calendar year in which it ends. A state’s fiscal year may or may not coincide with the federal fiscal year; it may coincide with the calendar year or run from July 1st of the year to June 30th of the next year.

Federal Medical Assistance Percentage (FMAP) – The Federal Medical Assistance Percentage (FMAP) is used in determining the amount of federal matching funds for state expenditures for assistance payments for certain social services, including the Title IV-E Foster Care and Adoption Assistance programs, and state medical and medical insurance expenditures. The Social Security Act requires the Secretary of Health and Human Services to calculate and publish the FMAPs each year.

Foster Care Licensing Standards – Each state has licensing regulations to ensure children are cared for in physically and developmentally safe foster family homes, group homes, and child care institutions. Although some states have separate standards when care is to be provided by related caregivers rather than by non-related caregivers, HHS has interpreted federal law to require that, for purposes of federal reimbursement, the same licensing standards must be applied to all foster parents but does allow exceptions to be made on a case by case basis. The new act codifies this guidance.

Health & Human Services (HHS), Department of – Cabinet level department within the Executive Branch that is the United States’ principal governmental agency for protecting the health of all Americans and providing essential human services across the country, especially for those who are least able to help themselves.

- Administration on Children & Families (ACF) – Within HHS, ACF is responsible for federal programs that promote the economic and social well-being of families, children, individuals and communities. Its 60-some program activities include adoption and foster care; child abuse and neglect; child care; child support; disabilities; energy assistance; Head Start; Healthy Marriage Initiative; Human Trafficking; Native American/Tribal supports; and the Temporary Assistance for Needy Families Program.
- Children’s Bureau – It is one of two bureaus within the Administration on Children & Families (ACF). It works with state and local agencies to develop programs that focus on preventing the abuse of children, protecting children from abuse, and promoting permanent families for children.

John H. Chafee Foster Care Independence Program – The Chafee Program has three components: (1) independent living services to help youth who are “likely to remain in foster care until the age of 18,” youth who leave foster care at 18 or older, and youth who were adopted or entered legal guardianship from foster care after attaining age 16 transition to self-sufficiency (basic independent living services); (2) assistance with “room and board” for those who exited foster care because they turned 18 but who have not yet turned 21; and (3) educational and training vouchers for youth otherwise eligible for services under that state’s Chafee Program including those who were adopted or entered kinship guardianship from foster care after attaining age 16.

Kinship Navigator Program – Programs that will assist kinship caregivers in learning about, finding, and using programs and services to meet the needs of the children they are raising and their own needs, and that will promote effective partnerships among public and private agencies to ensure kinship caregiver families are served.

Medicaid – Provides financial assistance to states for payments of medical assistance on behalf of cash assistance recipients, children, pregnant women, and the aged who meet income and resource requirements, and other categorically-eligible groups including children who are eligible for the Title IV-E Foster Care and Adoptions Assistance programs and, under the new act, Kinship Guardianship Assistance Payments. In certain states that elect to provide such coverage, medically needy persons, who, except for income and resources, would be eligible for cash assistance, may be eligible for medical assistance payments under this program.

Ombudsman – An advocate or spokesperson for a targeted group of individuals who are served by an organization to ensure that the organization's obligations, ethical duties, and rules are being followed; to investigate possible illegal, unethical activities or harmful unforeseen consequences of that organization's actions; and to facilitate negotiations or actions toward satisfactory solutions.

State Child Welfare Agency – State agencies that are mandated to respond to reports of child abuse and neglect and to intervene as needed to protect children. Typically they provide a range of child welfare services for children and families, including family preservation, child protection, out-of-home care, kinship care, and adoption. For links to child welfare agencies in each state see: http://www.childwelfare.gov/pubs/reslist/rl_dsp_website.cfm?rs_ID=16&rate_chno=AZ-0004E

Temporary Assistance for Needy Families Program (TANF) – Provides grants to states, territories, the District of Columbia and federally recognized Indian Tribes operating their own Tribal TANF programs to assist needy families with children so that children can be cared for in their own homes; reduce dependency by promoting job preparation, work, and marriage; reduce and prevent out-of-wedlock pregnancies; and encourage the formation and maintenance of two-parent families.

Title IV-B/Stephanie Tubbs Jones Child Welfare Services Program –

- Child Welfare Services Program (Subpart 1) – Promotes state flexibility in the development and expansion of a coordinated child and family services program that utilizes community-based agencies and ensures all children are raised in safe, loving families. Funds may be used for the following purposes: (i) protecting and promoting the welfare of all children; (ii) preventing the abuse, neglect, or exploitation of children; (iii) supporting at-risk families through services that allow children to remain with their families or return to their families in a timely manner; (iv) promoting the safety, permanence, and well-being of children in foster care and adoptive families; and (v) providing training, professional development, and support to ensure a well-qualified workforce.

- Promoting Safe & Stable Families (Subpart 2) – Funds family preservation services that assist families at risk or in crisis; community-based family support services that promote the safety and well-being of children and families, to afford children a safe, stable and supportive family environment, to strengthen parental relationships and promote healthy marriages, and otherwise to enhance child development; time-limited family reunification services to facilitate the reunification of the child safely and appropriately within a timely fashion; and adoption promotion and support services designed to encourage more adoptions out of the foster care system, when adoption promotes the best interests of the child. In addition, a portion of funds is reserved in FY 2008 – FY 2011 for a separate formula grant for States and territories to support monthly caseworker visits with children who are in foster care. Funds also are reserved for research, evaluation and technical assistance, which may be awarded competitively through contracts or discretionary grants.

Title IV-E Adoption Assistance – Provides federal funding to states for adoption subsidy costs for the adoption of eligible children with special needs who meet certain eligibility tests; administrative costs to manage the program; and training for the public agency staff, adoptive parents, and certain private agency staff.

Title IV-E Foster Care – Provides federal funding to help states provide safe and stable out-of-home care for children under the jurisdiction of the state child welfare agency until the children are returned home safely, placed with adoptive families, or placed in other planned arrangements for permanency. The program provides funds to states to assist with the costs of foster care maintenance for eligible children; administrative costs to manage the program; and training for the public and private agency staff, foster parents and certain private agency staff.

Title IV-E Training – Provides federal funding to states to assist with training for public and private agency staff, court staff, attorneys, court appointed special advocates, and guardians ad litem, and foster and adoptive parents and relative caregivers.

Title IV-E Waivers – The Child Welfare Waiver Demonstration authority provided states with an opportunity to use federal Title IV-E funds more flexibly in order to test innovative approaches to child welfare service delivery and financing. States could design and demonstrate a wide range of approaches to reform child welfare and improve outcomes in the areas of safety, permanency, and well-being and request waivers of Title IV-E rules to be able to implement them. Although the authority for new waivers ended in March 2007, 12 states are continuing waivers in different areas begun before that date. Six of these states are continuing kinship care waivers.

211 and 311 – A toll-free telephone number that connects callers to information about critical health and human services available in their community. The availability of 211 and 311 and the services that are offered through 211 and 311 vary from community to community.

*Generally, definitions were drawn from the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance (CFDA) (http://12.46.245.173/pls/portal30/CATALOG.FIND_ASSISTANCE_PROGRAM_DYN.show) or the Glossary maintained by the Child Welfare Information Gateway (<http://www.childwelfare.gov/admin/glossary/index.cfm>).

- “Preventive” Subsidized Guardianship Programs: An Emerging Option for Permanent Kinship Care
 ChildFocus Partners for Cornerstone Consulting Group, Inc., December 2006
This paper examines programs in six states (Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, New Jersey, Nevada, Ohio) and the District of Columbia that provide assistance to children who are living with permanent guardians and who may otherwise be at risk of placement in foster care. Because most states are funding these subsidies with federal Temporary Assistance for Needy Families funds (TANF), the programs cross the lines between state child welfare and economic assistance systems. This paper describes the goals and potential outcomes for “preventive” subsidized guardianship, as well as program characteristics that are beginning to emerge. It concludes with a summary of the issues and challenges raised as agencies, advocates, and policymakers continue to explore the best strategies for supporting children living with relative caregivers.

- Illinois Subsidized Guardianship Waiver Demonstration: Final Evaluation Report
 Children and Family Research Center, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, 2003
This report presents final evaluation findings one of the largest and most successful of the federal waiver demonstrations: the Illinois Subsidized Guardianship Waiver Demonstration. Since its inception in May of 1997, Illinois courts have transferred (as of March 30, 2002) 6,820 foster children from public custody to the private guardianship of relatives and foster parents. Report includes quantitative data on the success of permanency placements and the number of placements.
