

The facts speak for themselves. Uninsured pregnant women are more likely to have a low-birthweight baby, leading to hospitalizations that on average cost 25 times that of a healthy baby. Real health-care reform means affordable and easily accessible coverage of all medically necessary services for all pregnant women and children, regardless of where they live. To do less just doesn't add up.
www.childrensdefense.org

