Child Welfare

Children in foster care or with a history of abuse and neglect are at higher risk of being trapped in the pipeline.

- In 2003, there were 9,213 children in foster care in Washington.
• In 2004, there were 6,730 victims of child maltreatment in Washington.

Education

Educational disadvantages make it more likely that children will enter the juvenile justice system.

• In 2005, a disproportionate number of Black and Latino fourth graders could not read at grade level. In Washington:
  o 80% of Black, non-Latino;
  o 86% of Latino; and,
  o 60% of White, non-Latino fourth graders could not read at grade level.

• Students who are suspended or expelled are more likely than their peers to drop out of school altogether. In Washington:
  o For every 100 Black students enrolled, there were 12.0 suspensions.
  o For every 100 Latino students enrolled, there were 7.3 suspensions.
  o For every 100 White students enrolled, there were 6.0 suspensions.
  o For every 100 American Indian/Alaska Native students enrolled, there were 9.9 suspensions.
  o For every 100 Asian students enrolled, there were 3.5 suspensions.

• In Washington, the school districts with the highest rates of suspension for Blacks are:
  o Bellevue (27 suspensions of Black students for every 100 enrolled);
  o Renton (18 suspensions of Black students for every 100 enrolled); and, o Bethel (15 suspensions of Black students for every 100 enrolled).

• In Washington, 8.8% of youth ages 16 to 19 were neither enrolled in school nor high school graduates.

Juvenile Justice System and Incarceration

Children of color are disproportionately represented in both the juvenile and criminal justice systems.

• In Washington, there were 35,315 juvenile arrests in 2005.

• Of the estimated 1,656 youth in residential placement in Washington in 2003:
  o 273 (16.5%) were Black, non-Latino;
  o 159 (9.6%) were Latino; and,
  o 1,059 (63.9%) were White, non-Latino.

• There were 198 youth under age 18 incarcerated in adult correctional facilities in Washington.

• Washington spends 4.3 times as much per prisoner as per public school pupil.

Community Violence

Between 1979 and 2004, gunfire killed 101,413 children and teens in America, destroying countless families and communities.

• In 2004, 49 children and teenagers in Washington died of firearm injuries, including: 18 homicides, 27 suicides, and 4 unintentional shootings.
